ABOUT THE CITY.

M. McKenzie departs for the world's fair to-day.

William Allen, the first street blacksmith, went to Butte yesterday.

J. F. Bowman, brother of Alderman Bowman of Butte, spent last night in the city.

Mrs. Joseph McCaffrey was shopping in Butte yesterday, returning on the evening train.

Sunday night's frost nipped all the outdoor plants which were not securely covered.

Nat Randall, cashier of the First National bank of Hailey, Idaho, is visiting friends in Anaconda.

Dr. D. J. Macdonald's health has been very poor of late, and he will leave for Chicago to-day, to be absent a month.

Mr. and Mrs. David Walker of Butte, returned home yesterday, after having spent Sunday in this city the guests of Miss H. Gettings.

Charley Lee, the China kid, was fined $5 and costs yesterday on the charge of being a vag. He had no money, was sent to jail, and will work out the fine and trimmings on the streets.

The Swedish mission convention will be held to-night and Thursday night in the Methodist church. Rev. O. Frank of Minneapolis will conduct the meetings. All Scandinavians are welcome.

Connell Co. are making desperate prices on ladies' capes. Their ten dollar ones go for $3.50, and $15 capes for $5. They want room for their winter wraps and make these reductions to move the goods.

The funeral of Lizzie, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wade, took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence on West Park avenue. A large number of friends attended.

The Anaconda Meat company will occupy the building corner of Main and Cherry streets, recently vacated by C. A. Tuttle, in about a week. The owner, Charles French, put a number of men at work yesterday repairing, painting and papering the entire storeroom.

Among the Anacondans who start to-day or to-morrow for the world's fair are Judge Winston and family, Rod Williams, Alderman Gnoes, Misses Lida and Minnie Walker, Miss Comfort, John W. Schmid and A. McKay. They will all visit their old homes before returning to the future capital of Montana.

Stole a Set of Harness.

A full set of buggy harness was stolen from Theo Ehret's stable, back of the store on Main street, last Wednesday, and the gentlemanly thief pawned the same with Clayberg, the East Park avenue second-hand man. Mr. Ehret did not discover the theft until yesterday, when he went to the barn to hitch up his horse for a drive. Clayberg said he could identify the man who disposed of the harness, but did not have time to look for him yesterday. Mr. Ehret looked high and low for the man described by Clayberg, but failed to locate him, and Mr. Clayberg is out just $4.

AN OLD TIMER PASSES AWAY.

Judge J. B. Waterbury Dies Suddenly in This City Yesterday.

Judge E. B. Waterbury, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Anaconda, died suddenly at his residence on Cedar street yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock. He had been ill for some weeks, but it was not thought his condition was serious until a few hours before his death. He was in his 60th year and had been in failing health for some years. It is announced that the funeral services will be held at St. Mark's church to-morrow at 12:30 p. m.

Judge Waterbury was a typical Montana pioneer, having undergone many of the hardships incident to early days in the West. He was born in Connecticut in 1825 and came to Montana from Lewiston, Idaho, about 1863 and mined in Alder Gulch when that was still a virgin camp. He conducted a successful business in Helena for some time. He had acquired quite a fortune when he joined in the mob to Elk creek during the gold excitement there. He was one of the first settlers in the town of Phillipsburg. From there he went to Butte and engaged in the real estate business with the late Judge Cadeb E. Irvine. He was a member of the first constitutional convention of Montana and was the only member of that body who persistently voted against the adoption of the constitution as framed by that body, claiming that it was merely a collection of old territorial statutes, and not a state constitution in any sense. He was not a member of the second constitutional convention, but was a firm supporter of the constitution as adopted by that body. He was a member of the territorial legislature from Deer Lodge county in 1876, and public administrator of Silver Bow county in 1882 and 1883. He was police magistrate in Anaconda and also held the office of school trustee.

In politics Judge Waterbury was always a democrat and was well known and respected by all the old-timers in this state. He came to Anaconda before there was a house here, and he lived here until his death yesterday. In many respects he was a remarkable man. He has left the impress of his strong character upon the affairs of this young state. He was the one man who had the nerve to join with Judge Pemberton, now chief justice, in calling a public meeting at Helena in the interests of law and order at a time when the road agent ruled the community. He was a fearless man, firm in his convictions, and strictly impartial in all his public acts. He made a good public servant because he knew how to do the right thing and was not afraid to do it at all times. He was a man of strong prejudices, firm in his friendships and unrelenting in his opposition. He desired to be just at all times, and was as immovable when he thought he was right, as the mountains among which he passed most of his life. He had a comfortable share of this world's goods and was diligent and prudent in all the affairs of life. He leaves two children, E. A. Waterbury and Mrs. S. A. Kinnicott, both of whom reside here. His wife died some years ago. Judge Waterbury will be mourned by many people who knew him and loved him for his worth.

TEMPERANCE PEOPLE AT WORK.

An Enthusiastic Meeting in the Interests of Reform Held Last Night.

A splendid temperance meeting was held last evening at Read's building in Main street. The hall was well filled with enthusiastic temperance workers, and music of an inspiring character was furnished by the choir of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches. On the platform were Rev. P. Lowry of the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Clyde of the Presbyterian church, Mr. Egbert, Mrs. Frank Kinney and Clark Braden. Prayer was offered by Rev. P. Lowry. Clark Braden delivered a lecture which is pronounced by many to be the finest ever delivered in the city of Anaconda. Owing to the great interest apparent in the subject, another lecture will be delivered by Mr. Braden at the same place this evening. It will be a temperance topic, the subject being, "What Are You Going to do About It?" Mrs. Frank Kinney was chairman of the meeting last night.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S LIQUOR LAW.

It Has Resulted in Less Work for the Police and Reduced Drinking.

It is too early to determine whether the new measure as a moral agent is a success, says a correspondent of the New York Evening Post. Friends of the governor are positive that it has worked a great improvement in the morals of others. People are awaiting developments before deciding. It was put into operation at Greenville only about six weeks ago. Seventeen saloons were closed at once. Most of the proprietors lingered around for a while in the hope that the law would be declared unconstitutional, but they soon began to drop off to other states, one by one, their barkeepers going with them. With the closing of the saloons came a decrease in the labor of the police. Fewer arrests were made in July than have been recorded in the corresponding period for several years, and the city clerk does not remember any other month when there was only one case of drunkenness before the mayor. The total amount of fines during the month was $49, against $158.72 for July, 1892, and before the mayor, who tries all such cases, there were 87 persons charged with disorderly conduct in the latter period, as compared with 30 in the month just gone by. The police report less trouble with the negroes, who, however tractable when sober, are often violent and unmanageable when intoxicated. It is also stated that a large number of habitual drinkers, especially young men, seem to have dropped the habit to a great extent. There are now no lounging places for the boys who "go down town" at night, except in the drug stores, where the sale of a few glasses of soda water is not profitable enough to make the proprietors encourage these visits.

The women—white and black alike—have welcomed the law as a most wholesome measure, in spite of the fact that many men argue that there is as much opportunity to drink now as before. Any wife, mother or sister, any near relative, may go to the dispensary and ask that a certain man be refused when he applies for liquor, and he cannot then get it. The dispenser is personally acquainted with nearly every man in the county, and where he suspects one person of purchasing for another he requires an oath from him that it will not be consumed by others than his own family.
